Instructions

Populate the table below with all contracting opportunities; i.e., all goods or services for which you could sign a contract in conjunction with your proposed planning project.

The most common type of contracting opportunity for a planning project would be procuring the services of a consultant to conduct a study. Other examples include contracts governing the purchase of office supplies, administrative services, or IT services.

Exclusion include work that your agency intends to conduct in-house; routine office supply purchases that require no contract; and, for applicants that are municipalities, goods or services that would be purchased through a department of the municipality.

Enter "NA" in the first line of the table if there are no contracting opportunities for your project.
